After a week, you will see your final scores posted by pin# on newclassroom.com! You can also get your grades through your official transcript tool, but that may not update until last week of December/when CGCC updates its records.

Good luck and save your notes! You might be able to re-use some for future essays (previous students have used the military themes and readings for History, politics, psychology, sociology, government, etc classes and their papers).

These are the techniques that were and shall be again!
