CMES Progress Report

The 19 students that are part of the course COM 204 Elements of Intercultural Communication are working in their final presentation and research paper titled:

Intercultural Communication Case Study Comparative Analysis: How women from the Middle East and Latin America are portrayed in different mass media communication messages?

February 2016

- I introduce the topic and explain the General Instructions of the Final Group Presentation and Research Paper.

March 2016

- I met with Professor Margaret Zanger from the Department of Journalism of UA and she identified several Mass Communication Media from the Middle East.
- The students form the 5 groups that are going to be working with the project. The countries that were selected are the followings:
  - Group 1: Egypt / Colombia
  - Group 2: Kuwait / Venezuela
  - Group 3: Jordan / Mexico
  - Group 4: Oman / Chile
  - Group 5: Qatar / Dominican Republic

April 2016

- The students received detailed guidelines for both the Research Paper and Oral Presentation. This document is posted in their Moodle Classroom and it will attached as part of this progress report.
- The students watch the documentary “Reel Bad Arabs” during the class period.

May 9, 2016

- The students will be doing their presentations and turning in their Final Research Paper from 12:15 until 3:05.
